Third Fire In Ten Days

The local fire department answered a fire alarm Thursday morning at the C.P.R. Station. The alarm was turned in at approximately 8:30 and in a matter of about 4 minutes the engine was on the job and had water on the blaze.

The fire started on a hand truck which had been loaded with express from the train Wednesday evening. From the truck the flames rose to the ceiling and burned through into the attic and was well under way when the alarm was turned in.

Damage to the building was only light but the express on the truck will probably be a total loss. No figures as to the loss were available.

TWO YEAR OLD DIES SUDDENLY; CAUSE OF DEATH NOT KNOWN

The death occurred Thursday morning at 10 a.m. of Hugh, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Jensen of Raymond. He was two years of age. Cause of death is not yet known.

There are times when one becomes weary of all doing. Running round soliciting advertising in a weekly newspaper is the common experience of their publishers or their employees. Sometimes a storekeeper will grab a piece of wrapping paper from the roll, scribble a few lines, and figure it should produce oodles of business.

Others will procrastinate and after maybe two or three calls will tell you they have decided not to carry an ad this week, just let it go. So, after running all over hell's half acre, to use a common expression which just about expresses the feelings of the advertising solicitor, he, or she, gives up in disgust, figuring that time can be spent to better advantage doing something more profitable than running on wild goose chases.

Talking about hell's half acre, recalls the story of the individual who came into the news paper office to renew his subscription, which had become delinquent. He was one of those chronic slow-pays with which every business has some experience. After handing him his receipt, the editor cautiously asked the reason of his coming in at that particular time. The reply was that overnight he (the subscriber) had dreamed of being held up for examination at the gates of Heaven, and on being asked, if he had paid all his debts repaid that he had.

But with a sudden twinge of conscience he remembered he had not paid his newspaper subscription, and as he expressed it, to save himself from running all over hell's half acre looking for the editor, he decided to pay up without further delay. —Macleod Gazette.

will control it. But, can we do it and still leave other men and women to dream and to implement their dreams free from interference? It is the little business that is of so great importance.

Consider manufacturing industry as an instance. It is supposedly the hub of free enterprise. Over 70 percent of all such industries in Canada are little undertakings, born of the dreams of individuals like ourselves and so small that, on the average, they employ fewer than 5 workers. There are fewer than 2000 manufacturing industries in all Canada that employ as many as 100 men. Or take the retail business in all its various branches, and again it is the individual, independent merchant who controls 85 percent of the total and does 81 percent of the total retail business. But, of course the most individualistic of all free enterprisers is the farmer of the 731,832 farms of Canada. Only a little more than one third of the farms employ any help and less than four percent employ year round help.

So the point that we would make is that free enterprise does not represent distant and sinister persons and powers, but, in the main, just you and me. Yet we talk of controls or appropriation, as if you could control the few large operations without controlling the multitude of the small. And when you control the small it means that freedom, your freedom and mine, to step into some undertaking, to work for it and make it grow and prosper is something that may be closed to us for ever.

HISTORY OF RAYMOND

By ELIZABETH KING

Last week's installment, taken from the first paper published in Raymond, dwelt upon the building of the first sugar factory but failed to give the estimated output. A prominent businessman of Raymond asked for this information therefore it may be of interest to conclude this article on "Raymond's First Sugar Factory."

The plant will have a capacity for slicing 300 tons of beets daily during the season, from which approximately 100,000 lbs. of sugar will be made. Two shifts of 65 men each will be employed in the factory which will run an average of 75 days each fall this run depending of course on the quantity of beets raised throughout the district.

In building this factory one million bricks will be used, the contract for supplying which has been let to the Lethbridge Brick and Terra Cotta Co.

Following are some news notes taken from the same paper:

Jeese Knight, president of the Knight Sugar Company and founder of the town of Raymond, arrived here from Utah on Wednesday. He will spend a few days looking after his many extensive interests in the district. This is Mr. Knight's first visit this year and he is agreeably surprised at the growth and progress of his town.

On Wednesday a new manager for the Raymond Hotel in the person of Alex McQueen, arrived from Calgary. Mr. McQueen has already taken on the duties of his position.

Superintendent Ellison left on Wednesday for his home in Layton, Utah, where he will remain until April 1st. Mr. Ellison has extensive interests in Layton which demand his presence there.

This week the Raymond Barber shop changed hands. J. Hall of Lethbridge, having purchased P. Betts interest in the business. Mr. Hall will be here to take charge about April 1st.

A petition is being circulated in this district asking the government to aid the St. Mary's River Railroad in extending their line to Cardston. The petition is being subscribed to by many.

Four carloads of settlers effects came in Friday from the South.

TAYLOR STAKE ORGANIZED 1903
On June 9th, 1895, the Alberta Stake was organized including all members located in Alberta. With the construction of the large St. Mary's River Canal by the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, 1898-1900, settlements were founded at Magnath, Strirling and later Raymond. The church contracted for the first fifty thousand dollars worth of work upon the above named company's irrigation project the settlers here filling the contract.

The success of the project caused the rapid growth of the eastern district so that on August 30th, 1903 the Taylor Stake was organized with President Heber S. Allen in charge with Theodore Brandt and J. William Knight as counselors. It included the settlers east of Spring Creek.

HEBER S. ALLEN
H.S. Allen was a prominent figure in L.U.S. church circles and a leading business man in Cardston and also in Raymond. In 1883 four years before the founding of Cardston by Chas. Ora Card, H.S. Allen, with his father entered Canada via old Fort Walsh in the Cypress Hills and crossed the Saskatchewan River by ferry at what is now Medicine Hat. They encountered numbers of Indians for the first time were restless because of the coming of the white men into their domain. In the spring of 1886 his father took a contract to build 18 miles of railroad grade north of Helena, Montana and it was in the fall of that year while they were camped in Prickly Pear Canyon that Chas. Ora Card and two associates enroute to their home in Logan, Utah, from their first trip into Canada, appeared. They stopped at the little camp for a rest and then drove on south.

While the visitors were camped with the Allens Mr. Card and his companion related glowing accounts of the new country, Canada, which aroused the interest of Heber Allen and in the fall of 1888 he was located in Cardston. He taught school there for a couple of years receiving $20 a month for his labors and taking wheat as part payment and out of that he had to board himself. He also taught a book-keeping class at night. Later he was employed by the Cardston Mercantile Company's Store which was started by Charles Ora Card. Here he received valuable business training and for four years managed the store and at the end of five years he owned and operated a store of his own under the name of H. S. Allen and Company. In 1911 Mr. Allen sold out to W.H. Steed except the stock which he moved to Raymond. He had previously purchased a controlling interest in the Raymond Mercantile Company Mr. Allen had watched the growth and development of the company from a "dry goods box" to one of the largest mercantile companies in southern Alberta and to one of the finest brick residences in Southern Alberta.

We refer to an old newspaper clipping of long ago.

THE RAYMOND MERCANTILE CO.
"The largest department store in the town is that of the Raymond Mercantile Co., Ltd. Under the management of H. S. Allen and D. A. Bennett the store has made rapid strides. As the store is the pioneer business house of Raymond's early and prominent settlers it supplied them with the necessities most suitable to pioneer life. In this well stocked trade emporium will be found groceries, feed and provisions, dry goods, gifts, furnishings, hardware, crockery, paints and oils and farm implements of every description. Including the International harvester machines, Studebaker wagons and buggies, Cockshutt plows and McLaughlin buggies and John Deere plows.

In addition to the above lines a splendid line of furniture has been installed.
H. S. Allen is president and manager of the company and D. A. Bennett is vice president and secretary treasurer."

From another Raymond paper of 1908, Fred Ford editor, we read the following:

"President Heber S. Allen is well known throughout the whole of southern Alberta and has had holdings from Mountain View in the west to Taber in the east. He is, moreover, a practical farmer and personally directs the cultivation of the soil and the harvesting of the crops. Mr. Allen is a very busy man, a true type of the western spirit. He has been his faith and integrity in the future of Raymond by the erection of a magnificent brick mansion."

His career from clerk in the Lee Store on the Cardston Mercantile Co. to the management of two of the biggest stores in the south, a large flour mill, farms and ranches and the presidency of the new Taylor Stake is one that may well inspire the youth of Raymond to emulate. If there are two words in the English language which alone can describe the man they are: Honesty and Sobriety."

ECHOES OF VICTORY

Since Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent has become the leader of the Liberal Party and scheduled to succeed Premier King shortly as Prime Minister probably before the end of 1948 observers along Parliament Hill have been hearing a great deal about a possible understanding developing between Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Premier Drew of Ontario, if the latter should throw into the ring his bat to take over the leadership of this party here in September.

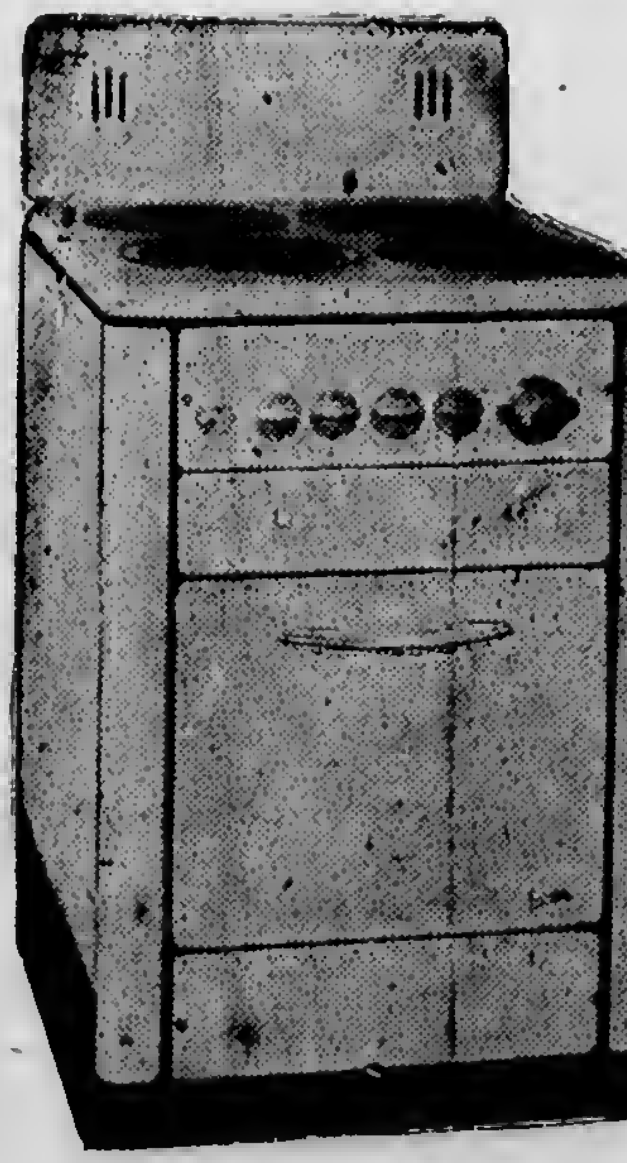

Such a possibility, it is known here would have far-reaching effects since it must be admitted that Mr. Duplessis scored a history-making victory in the recent provincial election there and it was in reality, a landslide. In addition, Mr. Drew is safely entrenched in Ontario following the recent test there. As a result such a political combination could produce effects in the federal political arena of a kind that would have far-reaching impacts throughout this country.

Then again, an "understanding" of this sort may bear watching, observers stress because of its possible relation to Dominion Provincial relations which have not been the best possible ever since the failure of the Dominion Provincial conference of 1945-46, with the constant threat existing now of double taxation because of the failure of the federal and certain provincial governments reaching accord. If such an "understanding" should develop as rumored possible along Parliament Hill now, chances of such an accord between present regimes are not considered to be any too good.

THIS IS UNUSUAL

It is learned officially in this capital that normally retail sales across Canada begin to recede in the half-way mark of the year, June, when the summertime seasonal downward swing in such business gets underway. However, a nation wide survey has shown that this did not occur this year and it is apparent that the masses have spent more money in the stores than usual at this time, with business being better than generally believed likely. In other words, this can be said to be indicative of a "boom" in business at the retail level in face of the high prices for commodities. It looks like this "little man" has plenty of cash still in his hands and he is spending it with the "help of the little woman."

In fact, turning back to the Canadian Government's report it is learned that retail sales advanced 15.8% in dollar volume during June this year compared with a year ago in this period and this is impressive in face of the higher prices because one would believe that the higher prices would bring a "buyer's strike" but these results closer it is observed that where the boosts were quite marked did not always involve "necessities" and this confirms the above impression about spending which aids the inflationary boom.

Gurney

LARSEN'S

The largest gain in June was in retail sales of women's wear stores 25.9% and other increases include 22.8% for department stores, 19.1% food stores, 15.5% variety stores, 11.2% country general stores, 12.7% family clothing stores, 12.7% hardware stores, 9.1% men's clothing stores, 8.6% jewelry stores, etc., with these in many instances indicating the trend of the times and proving quite amazing in the light of land complaints about prices.

NEW ACTIVITIES

It is evident that Canada's political parties will soon start to organize in Newfoundland in preparation for this old colony becoming the 10th province and already there are signs of such activities being prepared with the indications that Liberals, Progressive Conservatives, CCF and Social Credit will engage in establishing themselves there just as soon as the opportunity will permit. Since Joseph Smallwood and F. Gordon Bradley, both Newfoundland confederates attended the National Liberal Convention here recently as "observers", it is believed that similar invitations to be "observers" will be extended to representatives from Newfoundland to the Progressive Conservative Convention here in September. The CCF had also extended such invitations.

When arrangements for confederation have been completed, it is held continued on back page

Lethbridge Experimental Station Weekly Letter

AFTER HARVEST CULTIVATION

When is the best time to fall cultivate? Records at the Lethbridge Experimental Station indicate that something is to be gained by blading stubble immediately after harvest or even right behind the combine at harvest time.

The advantages? Weeds, particularly Russian thistle, skeleton weed and various pigweeds, which would otherwise grow rapidly once the crop had been taken off, are killed whilst they are still small. This destruction of weed growth leads directly to conservation of moisture. The following year, providing there is sufficient moisture in the soil to warrant seeding a crop on stubble, the absence of large dried-out weeds will make preparation and seeding much easier.

THE FLY - PUBLIC

ENEMY NO. 1

A famous American authority on insect pests recently stated the common housefly is the most dangerous living thing within the United States. This statement also applies to Canada, especially Canadian farmers where flies are present in astronomical numbers during the summer and early fall.

Due to its breeding places and habit of crawling over all varieties of filth, the fly is a carrier of many diseases of man, domestic animals and poultry. Most health authorities agree it is an important factor in the spread of typhoid fever, dysentery and many parasitic worms.

Like any other campaign against insects and disease, fly control should be planned to take advantage of the insects habits and breeding places so attack can be made from every angle. Entomologists advise the following practices in a full-scale anti-fly campaign.

Spray manure piles and other known breeding places with a 50% DDT wettable powder at the rate of one pound of powder to eight gallons of water. This will destroy developing maggots and egg-laying adults.

Walls and ceilings of barns and stables should be sprayed every 4 to 6 weeks with a solution containing one pound of 50% wettable powder in one gallon of water. This amount of spray should cover 1500 square feet.

Farm animals should be sprayed with a solution of one pound of 50% wettable DDT powder in 10 to 20 gallons of water. With this protection they will show appreciable weight gains. Cows will be much easier to handle at milking time.

A fly-free house and kitchen is possible with the use of DDT household sprays around doors, window sills, screens and other places where flies gather or are likely to enter the house.

Late fall blading is less beneficial than that which is done immediately after harvest as weeds are already seeded and moist to begin with. However, even late blading results in control of the winter annual weeds such as shepherd's purse and stinkweed which normally live through the winter and resume growing in the spring.

Use of the blade implement after harvest leaves the stubble erect and so furnishes greater protection against wind and water erosion than the one-way and disc which break down the stubble. Blading also increases permeation of a seed bed and, as the blades set it loose in the spring, the first spring cultivation may be done with a ridgewalker.

If you are one of those who have not yet practiced after harvest cultivation why not give it a try this year? There is nothing to lose and much to be gained if you can fit it in to your farming program.

NATIONAL HOLIDAYS ON MONDAY

Celebrate all national holidays on Monday, urges the Financial Post which states: "Considering an annual Canadian trade association is a resolution calling upon the Dominion Government to have all national holidays celebrated on a Monday. This is a sound suggestion and it should be heeded."

The present of our sales system when Empire Day or Dominion Day may come in the middle of the week has really nothing to commend it. There is little historic significance about the actual dates we use now.

Aside from the very considerable dislocation for industry and business when a national holiday falls in the middle of the week, there is a most important human factor. Added to the weekend, the extra day gives a real break and a chance to get away from routine, to the average worker and his family. Coming in the middle of the week, it is merely a day when one stays around home rather than going to the office or plant.

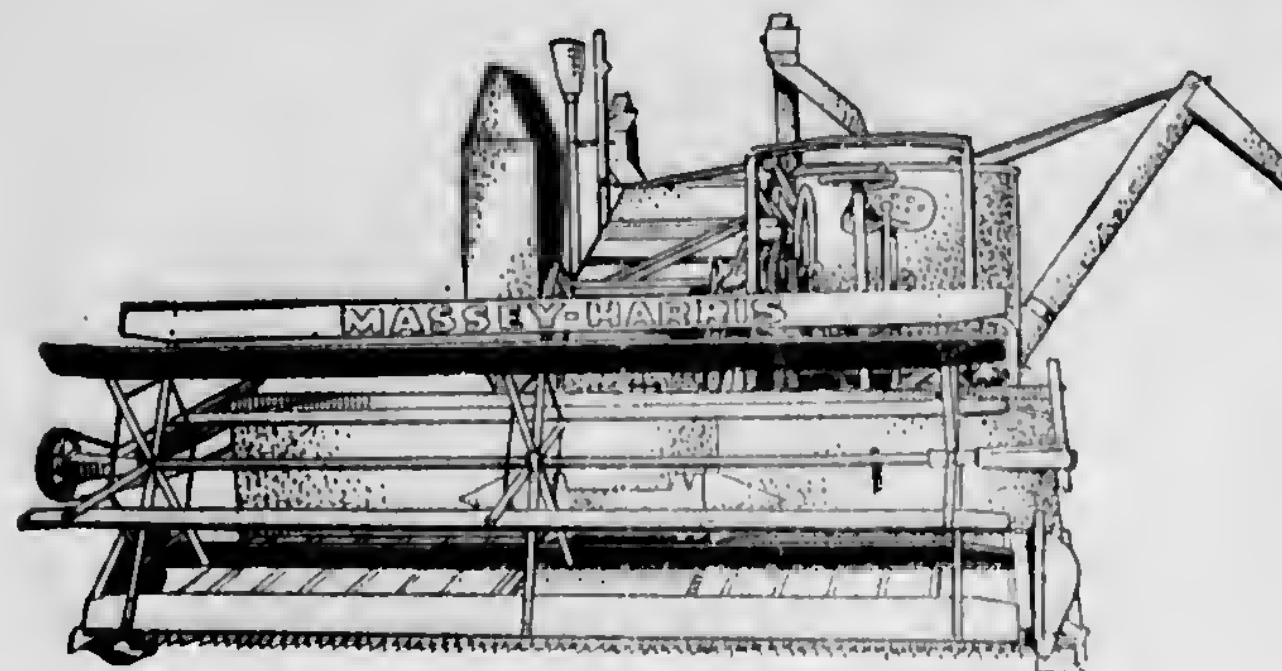

NOTHING BRAVE AND DASHING

We have been in the newspaper and magazine business long enough, says Napier Moore in The Financial Post to know all the answers about "human interest". They don't lessen our belief that newspapers err when they publish pictures which make criminals appear glamorous to silly juveniles.

There is nothing brave and dashing about a moron who shoots a helpless storekeeper or bashes in a watchman's skull with an iron bar.

We are fed up with photographs of brash young killers, mobsters and hoodlums posing after capture with smirking faces and affected nonchalance. That is dangerous stuff to feed to potential delinquents.

The 1919 convention of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs will be held here, it is learned.
A growing resentment can be detected in this capital resulting from reports that bread prices may be boosted by 2 to 3 cents a loaf in some parts of this country in face of the new subsidy announced by the Canadian Government that aimed to keep such prices down, feeling being that this increase is unjustified and being indicative that some people are out to charge all the traffic will bear.

OLEO IN THE NEWS
Oleomargarine is frequently in the news now-days along Parliament Hill and observers are noting that opinions for as well as against its legalization are becoming more frequent, especially since the union of Newfoundland and Canada became a certainty. With the big question now being what will happen next winter when a serious butter shortage develops in Canada and Newfoundland is in a position to export its surplus of oleomargarine at a much lower price than butter will probably be selling at that time. However, it is said here in well-informed quarters that there are no great quantities of the butter substitute available in Newfoundland, even if Canada should allow it to enter and what appears now to be the most important point in the coming test case before the Supreme Court of Canada. While the case is before the courts discussion is very much limited with this having been the real reason why it was not raised at the recent Liberal Convention here. A resolution on came at this national gathering was not pushed because the issue was before the court.

CHEAPER BUT SCARCE
Though the Government has reduced the special excise tax on motor vehicles it is learned here that cars or trucks may be somewhat cheaper but the supply on the new or used car market will still be such as to make it difficult to get the kind of vehicle desired. Apparently factory shipments of Canadian made vehicles have totalled only 129,182 units in the first half of this year, including 74,179 passenger cars and 55,003 commercial vehicles compared with a total of 126,215 units last year. In the same period emphasizing that output was greater but for from meeting the demand with this indicating that prices may be higher than believed likely when the Government first announced the new tax cuts recently and dealers were gloomy under impressions that they would be losing heavily on cars now in stock.

SAID IN THE CAPITAL
"The immediate purpose of Communism is the complete control of the individual in the name of the State and its ultimate aim is world domination", declared Premier King here, emphasizing the menace of Communism.

"I was lucky to be born a Canadian", said External Affairs Minister Louis St. Laurent, new leader of the Liberal Party during an interview in the capital.

"Within a year, there'll be no province in Canada whose people are so happy to be in confederation as those of Newfoundland when visiting here," predicted Joseph Smallwood, leader of the Confederation party of Newfoundland.

"We intend to fight against any recession and we have plenty of ammunition in store to win that fight", stated Trade Minister Howe in a speech in the capital.

"Newspapers in Greece are facing slow death", was the gloomy remark of the publisher of "Eleftheria" (Liberty) of Athens, Greece, Archilles S. Chertis, who has spent the past five months in U.S. and Canada seeking newsprint and who said here that he was not optimistic about getting any supplies.

WEEKLY WINDUP
It is understood that the new leader of the Liberal party Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, whose home is in Quebec may make his permanent home in Ottawa now.

There is no doubt backstage in this capital that the National Liberal Convention worked just as hard to reorganize the party forces for a coming appeal to the people as to choose a new leader, though the headlines appear to stress the latter aim more than anything else.

The Civil Service Federation of Canada is known to be really angry at even the suggestion that Hon. Adolphe Godbout, Liberal chief in Quebec should be considered for the vacant post on the Civil Service Commission as rumors here have insinuated ever since Mr. Godbout's defeat in the provincial election there.

Plans for a transcontinental highway across Canada do not seem to be in the immediate thought here though there has been considerable talk about such a scheme outside of this capital.

"You know I do, Harry."
"Harry? My name's Sam."
"Of course, I keep thinking today is Monday."

Edith (just engaged): He told me I was so interesting and so beautiful. Julia (jealous): Surely you are not going to trust your life with a man who begins deceiving you, even at the commencement of his courtship.

She had been introduced to a radio newscaster. In parting, he advised her to be sure to listen to his radio program at breakfast time if she wanted to know what's behind the headlines.

"I know what's behind the headlines at breakfast time," she said, "my husband."
